

So instead of improving their service, the radio stations complain the the government (or the NAB did) that they are broadcasting localized content, which infact they are not, because the broadcast goes nation wide, which is not in violation of the FCC rules.

This is an outrage that this would even be considered!